Capacity

Project Details--Capacity

Task Instructions: In this section, share the capacity and strengths you have, those that you hope to build, and how authentic partnerships will support your proposed project.

What capacity and strengths will you bring to this project, and what capacity and strengths do you hope to build?
Explain the strengths of the team and organization(s) involved and how the project will build on these.

Asset Mapping:

a collaborative process by which a group can identify and discover their strengths, and at the same time share stories and connect with each other.

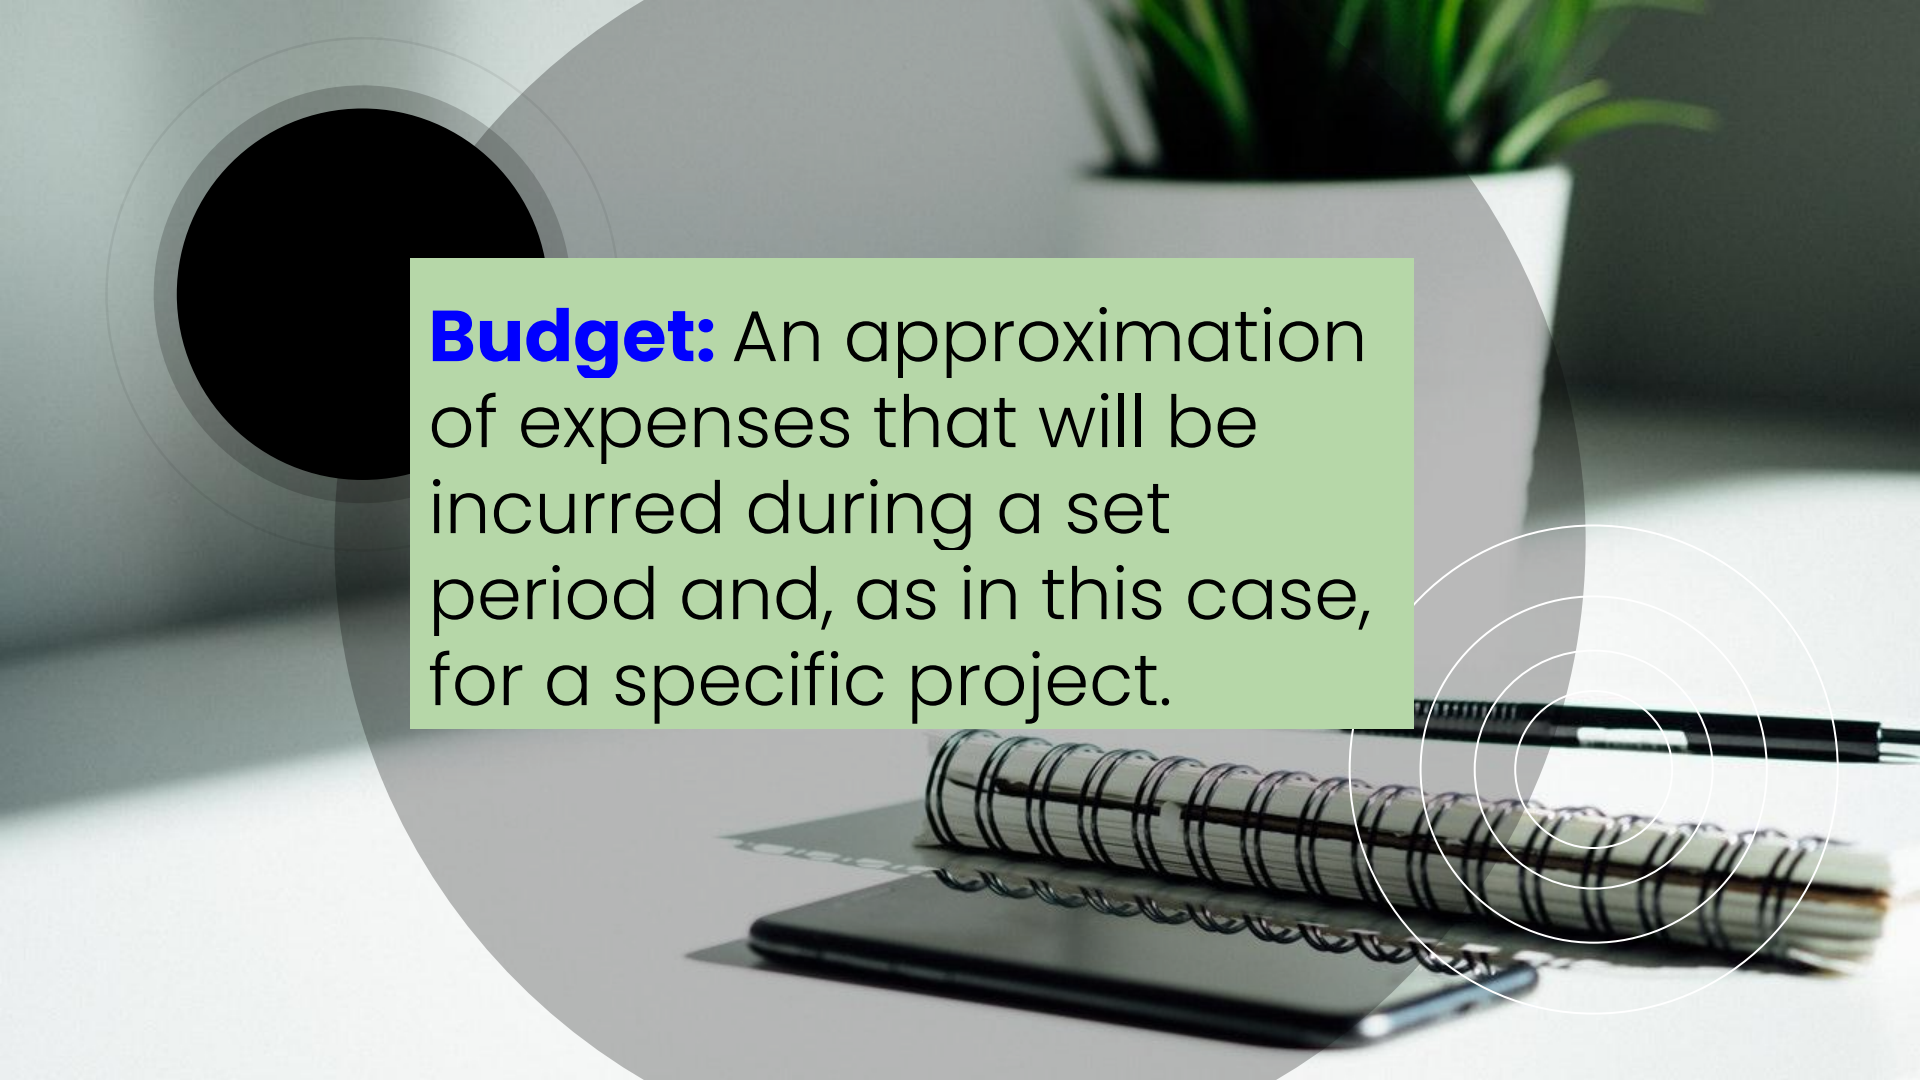
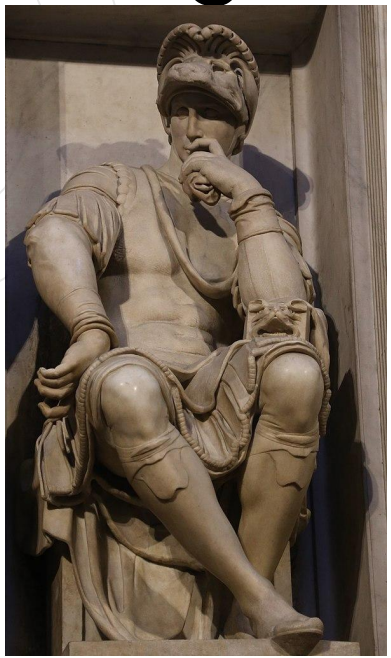
Budgets

Presenter: M. Stephanie Chancy, Ph.D.



Budget: An approximation of expenses that will be incurred during a set period and, as in this case, for a specific project.

Thinking about the Budget



- From the beginning
- Think about what things, like staffing, consultants, equipment costs
- Budget outlines the money you need to carry out your proposed project
- Need a firm grasp of narrative, goals, objectives, and outcomes

Michelangelo, Lorenzo de Medici, Duke of Urbino, 1531-1534, Medici Chapel, Florence, Marble

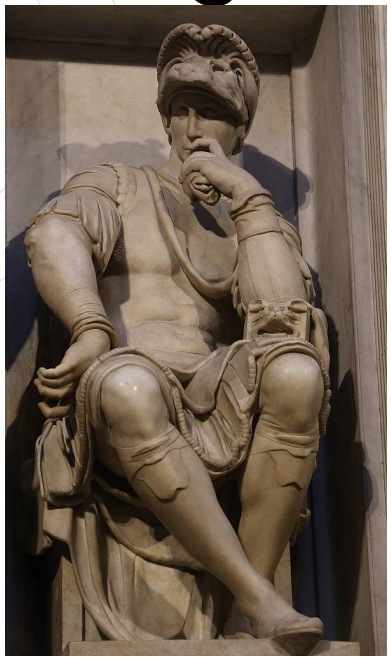
Thinking about the Budget



- Need to be versed in the necessary steps to achieve goals
- Budget lays out what each step will cost
  - Staff salary and fringe benefits (two separate lines)
  - Equipment
  - External consultants
  - Travel
  - Training

Goal!

Convey a realistic understanding of the costs to see your project through successfully

Where The Budget Comes From

- From the activities you are proposing
- Numbers need to be realistic
- Numbers need to reflect what you actually require to implement the project
- Budget needs to Comprehensive and Detailed

Sources Consulted

Deborah Ward, Writing Grant Proposals that Win, third edition. Boston: Jones and Bartlett Publishers, 2006

Ellen Karsh, and Arlen Sue Fox, The Only Grant-Writing Book You'll Ever Need, third edition. New York: Basic Books, 2009

Two Key Questions*

1 Am I asking for enough?

Is the money enough to achieve the objectives proposed?

2 Is the amount reasonable, outlandish, or in between?

Are you asking for too much or not enough?

Goldilocks of Asks!

Not too High, Not to Low, Just Right!

*Adapted from Karsh and Fox, The Only Grant-Writing Book You'll Ever Need, 203.

How do I Get Accurate Numbers?

Do Not Guess or Rely on Memory

The Line-Item Budget

Read the detailed application instructions carefully	Know the Award Amount - for CLIR Hidden Collections = $50,000-$300,000	Know the Allowable Costs, those are the budget line items
Staff Salaries Fringe Benefits (A percentage of the annual salary)	Staff Training Consultant Fees	Allowable Costs but with Restrictions, Limitations, Parameters

Needs to be Detailed and Specific

The Budget Narrative

Explains Each Line Item	Explains how you arrived at the costs	Explains how it relates/helps you reach your stated goals
Explain how each expense connects to the objectives	Explain how the money will help you complete activities, meet objectives, reach outcomes	Explain how and why you came up the numbers for each line item

The Budget Narrative
What to Include

What are you paying for?	How much per item?	How much per hour or per day? Who are you paying?
How many hours per week will each person charge? How many days for a consultant?	How did you arrive at these dollar amounts?	Don't Forget to include In-Kind Donations

What the Budget Shows*
