APPENDIX A: RESULTS OF AN EXAMINATION OF DIGITIZATIONS OF THREE MULTI-LANGUAGE REFERENCE WORKS

201) Bibliographic citation: Riddle, Joseph Esmond, and Thomas Kerchever Arnold. A Copious and Critical English-Latin Lexicon Founded on the German-Latin Dictionary of Dr. Charles Ernest Georges. First American Edition, rev. and with a dictionary of proper names by Charles Anthon. New York: Harper & Brothers, 1849.

Project: Google Book Search.

Source of physical book: Harvard University, Widener Library.

Provenance: By exchange of Duplicates with the Rev. [ ] Perry, Class of 1854.

Pages viewable: full text.

Pages viewed: 4-23, 188-207, 306-325, 596-615, 718-737.

Physical condition: Ink splotches appeared on four pages obscuring words (727-730).

Light areas appeared on many pages, but text was readable.

Ease of finding: easy.

Metadata: Page indicators: No page numbers were listed in the page indicator for pages after p. 11. Because of this, retrieving specific pages after p. 11 was possible only by trial and error. Subjects: “English language” and “Latin language”; LC lists “English language--Dictionaries—Latin” and “Latin language--Dictionaries--English.” Key words and phrases listed “Viä,” an OCR misreading of “Vid.”; “Vi<1,” “ineit” (no occurrences); among many other irrelevant combinations of letters that Google presents as words.

MARC records: not available.

OPAC records: no.

Quality of scans: Poor (see above and below). Letters were not sharp, although pages were legible. Following p. 17, pages 8 through 17 were reproduced a second time.

Accuracy of keyword searches: Word searches were impossible. For most pages checked, there were no OCR readings. For the few pages with limited OCR readings, all OCR readings resulted in incomprehensible symbols that were not words.

202) Bibliographic citation: Woodhouse, S. C., comp. English-Greek Dictionary: A Vocabulary of the Attic Language. London and New York: Routledge, 1932.

Project: Google Book Search.

Source of physical book: unknown.

Provenance: unknown.

Pages viewable: preview.

Pages viewed: 43-47, 50-54, 57-61, 64-68, 71-72; 149-150, 153-157, 160, 163-167, 170-174, 177-179; 325, 328-332, 335-339, 342-346, 348-349, 352-353, 356; 584-587, 591-592, 595, 597, 599, 602-603, 605-607, 610, 612, 614-615; 972-974, 976, 978, 980, 982, 984-985, 989-991, 993, 995-996, 1000-1001, 1003.

Physical condition: good.

Ease of finding: easy.

Metadata: Pages listed: 1038; LC lists “viii, 1029.” Page indicator: 10 pages were mislabeled in the page indicator (149, 150, 153, 154, 155, 348, 349, 1000, 1001, 1003). One page labeled 349 in the page indicator displayed a gloved hand and was completely unreadable. Subjects: “Dictionaries,” “English language,” “Foreign Language Study / Greek (Modern),” and “Foreign Language Study / Ancient Languages”; LC lists “English language—Dictionaries—Greek.”

MARC records: not available.

OPAC records: yes.

Quality of scans: Poor. 4 pages were omitted (347, 348, 350, 351). In addition, the right sides of 6 pages were blurred and/or cut off so as to make one word per line unreadable (974, 976, 978, 980, 984, 1000).

Accuracy of keyword searches: In addition to the problems noted above, words searches achieved perfect results for English language words, with the exception of the last line of p. 58 and words hyphenated between lines.

203) Bibliographic citation: Meusel, H. Lexicon Caesarianum. Volume II. Berlin: W. Weber, 1893.

Project: Google Book Search.

Source of physical book: Stanford University Libraries.

Provenance: Leland Stanford Junior University.

Pages viewable: full text.

Pages viewed: 5-44, 150-189, 311-350, 599-638, 999-1038. (Each page contains two columns, each of which is paginated separately.)

Physical condition: good.

Ease of finding: easy.

Metadata: Contents: 24 sections were listed, but these did not correspond to sections of the text. Sections 2-6, for example, linked to pages v, vi, vii, ix, and x for no understandable reason.

MARC records: not available.

OPAC records: no.

Quality of scans: reference.

Accuracy of keyword searches: All pages contained numerous OCR misreadings of Latin words, although many words were read correctly by OCR. Often, OCR read a Latin word mistakenly as a similarly-spelled English-language word. For example, the word “multitudo” was read as “multitude”; “documento” as “document.” In addition, the letter “s” often was misread as “e”: “suis” as “suie,” “sibi” as “eibi,” “ipsi” as “ipei,” “essel” as “eseet,” etc.

APPENDIX B: COMPARING PRE-1923 DIGITIZATIONS IN ACLS HUMANITIES E-BOOK WITH DIGITIZATIONS OF THE SAME TEXTS IN GOOGLE BOOK SEARCH AND MICROSOFT LIVE SEARCH BOOKS

204A) Bibliographic citation: Barbour, Violet. Henry Bennet, Earl of Arlington, Secretary of State to Charles II. Washington: American Historical Association, 1914

Project: Google Book Search.

Source of physical book: Harvard College Library.

Provenance: from the bequest of Charles Sumner.

Pages viewable: full text.

Pages viewed: 5-24, 70-89, 137-156, 200-219, 263-282.

Physical condition: good.

Ease of finding: easy.

Metadata: Subjects: “Great Britain”; LC lists “Arlington, Henry Bennet, Earl of, 1618-1685” and “Great Britain—History—Charles II, 1660-1685.”

MARC records: not available.

OPAC records: yes.

Accuracy of keyword searches: The OCR problems with reading lines on the index pages for the Microsoft digitization of this book (see 204B) did not occur in this Google digitization. In addition, the last footnote on p. 5 was read correctly by OCR in the Google digitization (unlike in 204B), although an italicized word in the footnote, “Oxonianses,” was read incorrectly by OCR as “Ozonianses.”

204B) Bibliographic citation: Barbour, Violet. Henry Bennet, Earl of Arlington, Secretary of State to Charles II. Washington: American Historical Association, 1914

Project: Microsoft Live Search Books.

Source of physical book: University of Toronto Library.

Provenance: unknown.

Pages viewable: full text.

Pages viewed: 5-24, 70-89, 137-156, 200-219, 263-282.

Physical condition: Markings appeared on only one page (154) with no affect on OCR.

Ease of finding: easy.

Metadata: Pages listed: 330; LC lists “xii, 303 p.” Subjects: “Arlington, Henry Bennet, Earl of, 1618-1685”; LC lists “Arlington, Henry Bennet, Earl of, 1618-1685” and “Great Britain—History—Charles II, 1660-1685.”

MARC records: not available.

OPAC records: no.

Quality of scans: recognition. Page 271 was reproduced too close to the left margin, so the word “State” was read as “tate” by OCR.

Accuracy of keyword searches: Of the 6 index pages viewed (277-282), 4 had multiple lines that were not read by OCR. In addition, on p. 5, the last footnote was not read by OCR; the italicized word “Négotiations” in a footnote on p. 89 was read as “Negotiations” by OCR; and in the footnote on p. 217, the word “prejudiciall” [sic] was read by OCR as “prejudicial!”

204C) Bibliographic citation: Barbour, Violet. Henry Bennet, Earl of Arlington, Secretary of State to Charles II. Washington: American Historical Association, 1914

Project: ACLS Humanities E-Book.

Source of physical book: unknown..

Provenance: unknown.

Pages viewable: full text.

Pages viewed: 5-24, 70-89, 137-156, 200-219, 263-282.

Physical condition: good.

Ease of finding: easy.

Metadata: Accurate, comprehensive, derived from MARC, with the exception of labeling of page numbers in the Page indicator (see below).

MARC records: not available.

OPAC records: yes.

Quality of scans: Poor (see below).

Accuracy of keyword searches: Labeling of page numbers in the page indicator was incorrect throughout the book. This led to problems with the retrieval of pages in which search terms occurred. Page 1 was labeled p. IX. Page 5 was labeled p. 1. Each subsequent page was labeled with a number 4 less than the number of the page. Word searches retrieved hits for pages in which the searched-for words occurred, indicating page numbers that were correct; however, clicking on links for these pages led to the wrong page—the number as listed in the page indicator. For example, a search for “prejudiciall” retrieved a hit for p. 217 (the correct page), but clicking on the link for 217 led to p. 221, where the word did not appear.

205A) Bibliographic citation: Brown, Louise Fargo. The Political Activities of the Baptists and Fifth Monarchy Men in England during the Interregnum. Washington: American Historical Association, 1913.

Project: Google Book Search.

Source of physical book: Library of the University of Michigan.

Provenance: unknown.

Pages viewable: full text.

Pages viewed: 2-21, 60-79, 110-129, 160-179, 200-219.

Physical condition: A splotch on p. 18 interfered with one word. Underling appeared on one page (5), but OCR was not affected.

Ease of finding: easy.

Metadata: Subjects: “Baptists”; “Fifth Monarchy Men”; and “Church and state.” LC lists “Baptists—England—History—17th century”; “Fifth Monarchy Men”; and “Great Britain—Politics and government—1649-1660.”

MARC records: not available.

OPAC records: yes.

Quality of scans: recognition.

Accuracy of keyword searches: OCR misreadings occurred with italicized words in footnotes on 2 pages (72, 176).

205B) Bibliographic citation: Brown, Louise Fargo. The Political Activities of the Baptists and Fifth Monarchy Men in England during the Interregnum. New York: Burt Franklin, 1911.

Project: Microsoft Live Search Books.

Source of physical book: Erindale College.

Provenance: unknown.

Pages viewable: full text.

Pages viewed: 2-21, 60-79, 110-129, 160-179, 200-219.

Physical condition: good.

Ease of finding: easy.

Metadata: Pages listed: 280; last page is 258. Contents: the link to Chapter 1, p. 1, retrieved a page before the title page.

OPAC records: no.

Quality of scans: poor. Missing pp. 202-203. Page 204-205 were labeled 202-203 then repeated.

Accuracy of keyword searches: OCR did not read lines of footnotes on 2 pages (64, 129) and lines of the Bibliography on 3 pages (215, 216, 219). In addition, light or broken letters in the footnotes on p. 14 and 72 resulted in OCR misreadings. (This also occurred with the ACLS digitization (205C) of these pages.)

205C) Bibliographic citation: Brown, Louise Fargo. The Political Activities of the Baptists and Fifth Monarchy Men in England during the Interregnum. New York: Burt Franklin, 1911.

OPAC records: yes.

Quality of scans: Poor (see below).

Accuracy of keyword searches: Labeling of page numbers in the page indicator was incorrect throughout the book. This led to problems with the retrieval of pages in which search terms occurred. Page 1 was labeled “XI – Table of Contents.” Page 3 was labeled p. 1. Each subsequent page was labeled with a number 2 less than the number of the page. Word searches retrieved hits for pages in which the searched-for words occurred, indicating page numbers that were correct; however, clicking on links for these pages led to incorrect pages. For example, a search for “Inner Life” retrieved p. 3 (the correct page), but clicking on the link for 3 led to p. 5, where the word did not appear. OCR misreadings occurred on 3 pages (3, 14, 72). OCR read 558 items, including dates, beginning with “16” as “I6”; it read 410 items beginning with “16” correctly.

Edited, from a ms. in the possession of Lieut.-General Lord Henry H. M. Percy, by William Douglas Hamilton. 2 vols. Westminster: Printed for the Camden Society, 1875-77. [Volume I]

Source of physical book: Harvard College Library.

Provenance: unknown.

Pages viewable: full text.

Pages viewed: ii-xxi, 34-53, 80-99, 150-169, 206-225.

Physical condition: good.

Ease of finding: A title search retrieved only vol. II. A click on the “More editions” link then retrieved vol. I.

Metadata: Key terms and phrases included Old English words (“daie,” “payd,” “shott”) and Latin words (“sciri” and “armiger”) that have no reason to be termed key terms.

Contents: the 14 “Sections” did not correspond to any divisions in the text; for example “Section 1” retrieved a page before the introduction that listed names of persons who were involved with the Camden Society, which published the book, while “Section 2” retrieved a page in the midst of the introduction. Subjects: “Great Britain”; Hollis Catalog lists “Great Britain—History—Tudors, 1485-1603.”

MARC records: not available.

OPAC records: no [Hollis Catalog includes a link only to vol. II.]

Quality of scans: reference.

Accuracy of keyword searches: At least one footnote on each of 3 pages was not searchable, although all were viewable in the plain text mode (xii, 37, 43). The name “Henry” was read by OCR as “Heury” 27 times; the name “Richard” as “Kichard” 2 times. In addition, OCR misreadings were noted on 2 pages (xiv, 47). Most pages contained headings in the margins that were read by OCR mixed in with the sentence that appeared on the same line. For example, on p. 161, the first sentence of the first full paragraph reads in part, “clocke in the morninge” with the word “moringe” appearing on the next line. In the right margin at the end of these lines, the heading “St. Giles church burnt” appears. OCR read “clocke in the St. Giles morninge,” combining the text and the first line of the heading.

Metadata: Pages listed: 290; last page is 226.

MARC records: not available.

OPAC records: no.

Quality of scans: reference.

Accuracy of keyword searches: Footnotes and lines of text were not read by OCR on 25 pages. On 15 of these pages (207-217, 219-223), no words at all were read by OCR presumably because all of the text was in Latin. Most pages contained headings in the margins that were read by OCR mixed in with the sentence that appeared on the same line. For example, on p. 161, the first sentence of the first full paragraph reads in part, “clocke in the morninge” with the word “moringe” appearing on the next line. In the right margin at the end of these lines, the heading “St. Giles church burnt” appears. OCR read “clocke in the St. Giles morninge,” combining the text and the first line of the heading. Misreadings by OCR of Old English words were not uncommon. In addition, the name “Richard” was read as “Kichard” six times.

Physical condition: Markings appeared on 4 pages (82, 88, 162, 166), though OCR was affected on only 1 of these pages (166). A splotch on p. 36 obscuring two words resulted in OCR misreadings of these words.

Accuracy of keyword searches: On each of 3 pages, a footnote indicator was read by OCR as part of words (ix, 43, 46). Most pages contained headings in the margins that were read by OCR mixed in with the sentence that appeared on the same line. For example, on p. 161, the first sentence of the first full paragraph reads in part, “clocke in the morninge” with the word “moringe” appearing on the next line. In the right margin at the end of these lines, the heading “St. Giles churche burnt” appears. OCR read “the clocke in the St. Giles chnrche burnt. moringe,” combining the text and the two lines of the heading.

OCR was affected on many of these pages. On 233, for example, the word “Maori” was read by OCR as “M lori”; “original” as “oiginal.” On 235, “authority” was read as “uthority.”

Quality of scans: poor. In addition to the problem noted above, p. 340 was blurry, but readable, though no word on the page was word searchable. Page 341 was blurry, but readable, and many words on the page were not retrievable through word searches, including all text in the first 9 lines.

Accuracy of keyword searches: In addition to the problems noted above, on index p. 454, a number of lines were not read by OCR. OCR misreadings were found on 2 additional pages (13, 108).

Key words and phrases included "maue" (an OCR misreading, occurring on 19 pages, of "Ma<sup>tie</sup>", an abbreviation for "Majestie," as in "the Kinges Ma<sup>tie</sup>"); the Latin words "tuam" and "nihil"; and the Old English word "dyvers."

Accuracy of keyword searches: Many pages contained headings in the margins. On some pages, these were read by OCR mixed in with the sentence that appeared on the same line (p. cii); on other pages, headings did not interfere (p. cclii). On 3 pages, searches for words in footnotes or near the bottom of the page did not retrieve results, even though the words appeared in the "plain text" version of the pages (pp. cclii, cccxl, 56).

Accuracy of keyword searches: Because footnote indicators in the text occurred before periods at the end of sentences rather than after, OCR read the footnote indicator as part of the word, so that a search for the word alone did not retrieve the page desired. For example, on p. 221, the footnote indicator “2” appeared after the word “Vienna.” A search for “Vienna” did not retrieve p. 221, while searches for “Vienna2” and “Vienna*” did retrieve the page. This problem occurred on every page checked, with the exception, on occasion, when the footnote indicator “1” was read as an apostrophe (232, 319). This problem did not occur with the Microsoft digitization of the book (213A). In addition, OCR misread an italicized word in a footnote on p. 2 and an accented word in the text on p. 390.
